Lots of people love organised sport, whether a team game or an individual activity. They enjoy being a member of a team or a club so they have the opportunity to take part in matches and events. As well, they enjoy (A9) ... the success, or failure, with others. However, there are many people who just don't like organised sport and who have to find other ways to (A10) ... fit and healthy. Perhaps they had a bad experience with a particular sport when they were younger. Maybe they feel embarrassed because they think they're not very (A11) ... at a sport and worry about disappointing the rest of the team if they (A12) ... badly. Organised sports are usually all about competitions and winning, and for some people, this pressure is too stressful.

Sarah Forbes talks about how she gets a good night's sleep

§ 1. I can't remember when I started to have problems sleeping. As a student I seemed to spend half of my life sleeping. But after my graduation I found myself spending hours lying awake until the early hours of the morning. After a few weeks of this I decided to do something about it. I often went to bed at different times; perhaps there was a programme on TV I wanted to watch, or I'd be watching videos on my phone. So I tried going to bed at the same time each night. This took a while to get used to but slowly I found myself getting into a regular routine.

§ 2. I also took the advice of a friend and made sure I did things to help me relax before I went to bed. I would start by writing a list of things I needed to do the next day so I wouldn't end up thinking about them during the night. I got into the habit of having a nice warm bath before bedtime and then did some relaxation exercises like meditation. Reading also seemed to work, but not in the way I expected. I would sometimes just fall asleep in the middle of a chapter!

§ 3. I also found some suggestions online about how to make your bedroom sleep-friendly. I used to have very thin curtains that let the light from outside shine through, so I changed these for thicker ones. I also removed all technology from the room like the TV and the laptop as these are not supposed to help you sleep, even if they are switched off. And of course I left the mobile phone downstairs!

§ 4. And the result? I'm pleased to say it's worked. Of course, there are some nights where I find it difficult to go to sleep but mostly I'm getting a good seven hours' sleep a night. I started to make a note of my sleep patterns and this is also useful as it helps show things that were making me lie awake, like problems at work. So, I have to say it has been a very successful experiment.
